FAMOUS BRISTOL LIBRARY

26/2/30

Sale Of Ald. Fox's Collection

MR. JOHN E. PRITCHARD, of the firm of Messrs. John E. Pritchard and Co., commenced to-day the sale of a famous Bristol library at the Grand Hotel.

The library was formed by the late Alderman Francis F. Fox, of Yate, and included in the sale were Bristol books and pamphlets, Bristol broadsides, early Bristol newspapers, and rare old views of the city.

There were 324 lots in to-day's sale. Two volumes of the Annual Anthology, 1799-1800, realised three guineas. There was brisk bidding for "The Only True and Authentic Account of the Balloon Voyage from Bristol on Monday, September 24th, 1810," which was printed for Mr. Sadler in 1810. It was knocked down for £2 6s.

There were two Bristol-printed Bibles sold, a pocket edition printed by William Pine in 1774 being sold for £2 15s., and Parsons' Bible (printed by John Fenley, jun., 1803) went for 25s. Bird's 52 etchings of "Picturesque Bristol" artist's proofs was sold for five guineas. A 1758 report of the Bristol Infirmary realised 10s.

RETAINED FOR CITY.

Brisk bidding was seen for Bristol Presentments No. 1 to 112, January 3 to December 24, 1770-4, and they were retained for the city at £17. Others went into the same ownership at £7 10s., £5 10s., £2 15s., and £2 5s.

The Society of Merchant Venturers secured a collection of original and interesting documents on Bristol Town duties, 1828, by Henry Bush, for four guineas.

An imperfect copy of "Bristol Drollery," poems and songs by Mr. C., printed for Charles Allen in Bristol, 1674, was sold for 6 guineas.

The Chattertonian lots numbered 370, and the amount realised was rather disappointing, the highest price being £3 6s. for a copy of the poems supposed to have been written at Bristol by Rowley and others in the 15th century, published at Cambridge in 1794.

CIVIL WAR TRACTS.

A number of Civil War tracts was offered, and the highest prices were £5 5s. and £5. Interest was taken in the Coleridge collection, a first edition of poems, printed in Bristol in 1796 starting at £10 and fetching £44.

A second edition published in 1797 was sold for £15 to Messrs. George—same buyers gave a similar price for John Cary's essay on the State of England, printed by W. Bonny at Bristol in 1695—this being the first dated work printed at a permanently established Bristol printing press.

A bound copy of the original issue of Arrowsmith's Annual 1883, containing Hugh Fargus's "Called Back" was bought by Mr. J. Arrowsmith Brown for £1.

THE FOX LIBRARY.

Valuable Bristol Books In the Auction Room.

GOOD PRICES.

A larger library of Bristol books has never been dispersed at one time than that formed by the late Alderman Francis F. Fox, which Messrs. John E. Pritchard and Co. are selling at the Grand Hotel. It represents judicious, systematic collection through a long series of years, and contains an exceptionally wide range of rare volumes.

The mere fact that the catalogue comprises 600 items gives some idea of the extent to which the alderman carried his researches for Bristoliania of all kinds that was worth preserving. The success which attended his operations made others envious, and they have freely embraced the opportunity now presented them of enriching their stores.

When the auction started yesterday several well-known collectors, as well as dealers, who came from as far afield as London and Birmingham, were present. Competition was often keen, although it must be admitted that some bargains were acquired. This was particularly the case so far as the general run of the Civil War Tracts were concerned. One, however—"Certain Observations on the New League and Covenant"—made 5 guineas, the highest figure at which one has been sold in an auction room. Another, "Mercurius Hibernicus," made £5.

These were followed by a small collection of the works of Coleridge, and here prices were uniformly high, in spite of rather inferior condition. For instance, £44 was given for a first edition of the poems printed in Bristol in 1796, and £15 for a second edition of the following year.

Among a group of Bristol Presentments, most of which were acquired for the city, Nos. 1 to 112, extending from January 3 to December 24 1770-4, fetched £18, and another set £7 10s.

The Chattertoniana was another rather disappointing market, and suggests that at the moment interest in the boy poet has waned.

John Cary's "Essay on Trade," the first dated work printed at a permanently established printing press in Bristol, made £13, which is above the average at which good copies change hands. A large paper copy of Latimer's invaluable "Annals of Bristol," in five volumes as published, made 10 guineas; while John Taylor's "Guild of the Weavers" went for 52s.

The sale will be concluded to-day.

An album of scarce old prints of Bristol realised £16, while O'Neill's 175 original drawings of ancient houses, etc., in Bristol, with drawings of ancient effigies in Bristol, sold for £46.

A number of Bristol poll books was sold, the highest price being £5 15s. for that for 1780, a manuscript copy bound in vellum.
